

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A gaming device with a bonus scheme which includes a plurality of value sets and a plurality of inputs which a player can make. After a player makes particular inputs, the gaming device stores in memory or designates certain values in certain value sets which are associated with the input outcomes. After 5 a terminating condition occurs, the gaming device awards the player with certain stored or designated values. This type of bonus scheme adds excitement to bonus rounds and increases player entertainment.